Name:
Little Moons Compare & Contrast
Author Jen Storm and her character Reanna are Ojibwe. In her afterword, Storm mentions ho no one person represents all Indigenous peoples – even within the same community, there cabe differences. It is important to know that Indigenous peoples and their traditional knowledgare diverse – there's no one size fits all.
Consider your family's cultural heritage. What are some cultural traditions your family participates in (ex. Holidays, meals, clothing, art)? Are there differences in traditions of people with similar heritage to your own? For example, a different region may have similar style of clothing but a distinct pattern. Search for examples to support your answer.