Where the Dark Stands Still

In the story, the house spirit living in the House Under the Rowan Tree manifests as a cat, which Liska affectionately calls Jaga.

If you were to have a house spirit living in your oven, what would it look like? What would you name it? Would it be fun and quirky, or sullen and kind of rude?

Create a drawing depicting your house spirit. You can use any medium of your choosing, whether it be this piece of paper and pencils, or canvas and paints. It's up to you!
