The Discovery of Finnegan Wilde by Caroline Pignat Writing Activity

Being immortal meant the 'four swans' had to keep reinventing themselves so as not to draw too much attention. The Discovery of Finnegan Wilde tells the story of one of Finnegan Wilde's many lives throughout the years. But what about her other lives? Or the many lives of her brothers?

Write a story about one of their many lives. Feel free to make it sound factual or fantastical like a fairy tale. '

As a prompt, below is how Tomás described the Treasures of Ireland:

- Aodh – The Sword of Light who could kindle or consume
- Conn – The Harp of Oak whose music could turn the seasons and touch the soul
- Fiachra – The Club who could take or give the breath of life
- Finn – The Cauldron of Plenty whose waters could heal, nourish and love.
